JOBBING END OF TOBACCO TRUST MUST REFORM

Metropolitan Declared a Monopoly by Department of Justice and Threatened With Proceedings.

MAGNATES CALLED INTO CONFERENCE

Ask for Time and Are Given Until Monday to Formulate Plans to Remedy the Existing Situation.

NEW YORK, March 25 .- The Metropolitan Tobacco company is a jobbing monopoly, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and must mend its ways at once, according to announcement today by United States District Attorney

Mr. Marshall made this statement after a conference with counsel for the Metropolitan and counsel for the four big tobacco companies which were formerly tactors in the tobacco trust. The conference bad been called to consider charges made by independent dealers that the four big companies violated the decree dissolving the trust by favoring the Metropolitan as a jobber. Mr. Marshall gave the concern until Monday to make plans to remedy

TONSILITIS KEEPS MARTIN IN HOSPITAL

Although Defendant Wants It to Proceed.

OGDEN, March 25 .- Because there was ne improvement in the condition of the defendant this morning, and on the advice of the Martin family physician. Dr. E. P. Mills, no effort was made today to resume the Joseph Henry Martin trial following the continuance from noon yesterday. Martin was taken to the De nospital, where he remained throughou he day under heavy guard, and he will also spend the night there, the physician believing that it will give him a better opportunity to check the attack of scute tonsilitis from which the prisoner is suf-tonsilitis from which the prisoner is suffering.

While District Attorney John C Davis expects to resume the trial tomorrow morning, his action in the matter will be governed entirely by the advice of the physician attending Martin. He would much prefer to postpone the case for a few days rather than impose a hardship on the defendant, which would perhaps keep him out of the courtroom for a week and thus cause a far more serious delay. The defendant himself was opposed to a further postponement of the trial and insisted that he was able to attend court today. After an examination of his throat by Dr. Mills before lo clock this morning, the physician advised that the defendant be given opportunity to rest and partially recover from his sickness before continuing.

Martin's illness is not regarded as serious, the principal object in removing him to the hospital being to treat the patient under the most advantageous conditions and bring about a speedy recovery in order to prevent further delays. When the patient was examined this morning the doctor found his throat badly swollen and the tonsils covered with small ulcers. Other than the tonsilitis, Martin is suffering from a bad cold, which he contracted according to his uncle. J. F. Martin, by reason of the window to his cell being left open at night.

With special treatment during the day, Dr. Mills hoped to improve the patient's condition to such an extent that he might attend court tomorrow morning, but promised to advise the district attorney in this regard at a late hour this evening in order that witnesses might be excused if it is found impossible to resume the trial. The physician and inembers of the Martin family denied that the defendant was suffering from a nervous breakdown, resulting from the damaging evidence produced by Theodore Kytka, the San Francisco expert. The defendant did not appear nervous this morning and insisted to his attorney that the trial proceed today.

After Judge J. A. Howell announced just before 10 o'clock that court sessions would not be convened during the day. Martin, clad in Sheriff T. A. DeVine's fur coat, was placed in an automobile and taken to the hospital. He was accompanied by Sheriff DeVine and Deputy Sheriffs George Leatham and J. L. Hobson. The two latter officers remained at the hospital and were joined there later son. The two latter officers remained at the hospital and were joined there later by Detectives Charles Pincock and George Wardlaw of the police department, the four officers remaining with Martin throughout the day. Another shift of officers was placed on guard tonight. Taking advantage of the day's vacation, the members of the Martin jury, accompanied by Bailiffs J. B. Crompton and Oren Hadlock, visited several points of interest. On the invitation of Juror Henry Wessler, his companions visited the Wessler cigar factory on Twenty-third street, the veteran juror demonstrating his ability to roll "smokes" for his brother and also the balliffs were measured and witnessed the manufacture of overalls for the entire party "while they waited." This afternoon the jurors again visited the home of Juror E. J. Marshall at North Ogden for the purpose of Inspecting his large fruit orchard.

Included in the fifteen blackmall letters which have been read into the records of the Martin case during the past two days are several communications hitherto unpublished. In the case of Mrs. McLaren Boyle Wallin, the first victim of the gang in Ogden, the facts did not become generally known until after G. W. Culver's experience with the robbers on West Twelfth street carly in January, 1912. Also the series of Culver letters were ever made public in their entirety prior to the present case.

At 11 o'clock tonight Martin's condi-tion showed improvement, and unless a change takes place the trial will be re-sumed at 10 o'clock temorrow morning. Dr. Mills told District Attorney John C. Davis that Sheriff T. A. DeVine, Deputy J. L. Hobson and Detective. Thomas Burk are on guard in Martin's room at the Dee hospital tonight. He will not be brought back to the county building until tomorrow morning.

DENIES RUMORS OF RAILWAY EXTENSION

Delay in Trial Is Occasioned, General Manager of Ogden Rapid Transit Company Makes Statement.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, March 25 .- Branding some of the recent newspaper reports as absolute fabrications so far as the actual plans present time, General Manager P. D. Kline of the Ogden Rapid Transit company declared tonight that the only de kline of the Ogden Rapid Transit company declared tonight that the only development with regard to the proposed extension from Ogden to Preston, Idaho, was the decision to prosecute some of the grading work during the coming season. He denied that the entire route had been definitely selected.

The general manager also denied having any knowledge of the rumored traffic arrangements with the Bamberger company relative to a union station near Lincoln avenue and Twenty-fourth street. The few arrangements with regard to construction work on the Logan extension have been made direct by the Ogden Rapid Transit company, Mr. Kline having no knowledge of any other larger transportation company being back of the proposed new line.

With respect to the new electric line to the north of Ogden, Mr. Kline said that the right-of-way question between Logan and Wellsville, south from the Cache county lown, and between Logan and Richmond, north from the same point has been settled. It is on these stretches that some of the preliminary construction work will be started this spring. The company already has in operation an extension in the direction of Richmond. This line, according to Mr. Kline, will eventually be extended to Preston, Idaho, but possibly not before two years.

BROWNING INVENTS NEW BEET DIGGER

OGDEN, March 25 .- In an effort to win the $10,000 prize offered by the American Sugar Refining company for the first successful beet digging and topping machine Justus A. Browning of this city has secured a patent on the model of such a machine, which he hopes to demonstrate in the beet fields of Weber county by next fall. Mr. Browning resides at 2033 Lincoln avenue, where he has a small machine shop in which he is now spending most of his time perfecting the various working parts of his invention.

The machine upon which Mr. Browning is working is fashioned somewhat on the plan of a sulky plow, but has four wheels. He estimates that the contrivance will weigh about 600 pounds when equipped for operation and will require four forces to draw it through the field. One man can operate the machine.

According to the inventor's idea, the beets will be raised from the ground by two plows and thrown onto an endless belt. By a spring arrangement the beets will be turned tops up and pass under knives which sever the tops. The capacity of the machine, according to the speed at which the horses can draw it cured a patent on the model of such a OGDEN, March 25.—The arrest of five or six of the band at each station is the method adopted by the Wyoming authorities in an effort to break up the band of Kellevites which passed through Ogden on Monday, according to information received at the local offices of the Union Facific railroad. The reports indicate that the eastbound travelers are now in custody at Green River.

After being marched out of Ogden to a point on the Riverdale road, the forty or fifty men boarded an eastbound Union Pacific freight train. At Evanston, Wyo, the men were forced to remain on board the cars until the train had pulled out of town, but at Green River, according to the Union Pacific reports, the officers forced them to leave the train and marched them to a stockade. Efforts will be made, it is said, to break up the gang before it reaches Nebraska.
